Anniversary Sale

This month we are eighteen years old.

We first opened our doors in 1903. We worried and struggled through a most trying situation, but after a while things ran more smoothly and we began to grow. Our promise to you in 1903 was that we would "give you the best values possible for your money," and this promise we are filling today.

Some of our customers today have been with us from the first day and we sincerely thank them and the many others who have helped us to make this store what we always wished it to be.

"The store where you get the very best possible values for your money."

Reopening of Didsbury Memorial Club

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the above Club held on Monday evening it was decided to re-open the Club for the winter season, on October 1st.

It is hoped that all those who so willingly gave their services as Instructors and Supervisors last season will again help in such capacities.

Classes in physical training, boxing, etc., will be arranged and it is expected that there will be a very successful basketball season. All intending members should secure their tickets as soon as possible from the Secretary, Mr. Cecil Studer.

In order to bring the benefits of the Club within the reach of all the membership fees are made as small as possible. If the Club was to be supported on membership fees alone these would have to be very much larger, and it is therefore hoped that voluntary subscriptions will be offered by all those citizens who can afford to do so, and who have the physical welfare of the youth of the town at heart. Mr. Cecil Studer, the Treasurer, who is generally to be found at the Union Bank will be pleased to receive subscriptions.

U. G. G. Plans For Cattle Trade

The U. G. G. have now made arrangements to try out their co-operative cattle selling scheme and in conversation last week with one of the men who has the matter in hand the Pioneer learned that they can handle 250 head each week from this district. All steers will be graded 1, 2 and 3 and a certificate will be issued for these steers as was done for grain and every man will get the average No. 1 grade price throughout.

If a farmer has to have some money he can draw up to 4 cents on No. 1 stuff, 34 cents on No. 2 and 3 cents on No. 3 with interest at 7 per cent. till the pool is completed and returns received. This pool will be made up about November.

This is purely a co-operative scheme being tried out by the U. G. G. and if it is a success other pooling arrangements will be undertaken.

Didsbury Loses Championship

The great game has been played and Didsbury failed to come to the scratch in the one contest that their fans so eagerly looked to them to win. The team was not in shape and that is the whole story, lack of practice being largely responsible for their defeat. The Medicine Hat team had nothing on the home aggregation, it was simply that our boys were not in condition and unlucky breaks coming at critical times combined to defeat them.

Ward Keith pitched the whole game and unfortunately was not in his usual form. Studer sustained an injured arm at practice a few nights ago and was unable to pitch.

The support the team got from the home fans was splendid about 200 people going down to the city to see the game and boost for the boys. They were a disappointed crowd as

The Mistake Of Hoarding

Canada, like all countries of the first class, has journals and publications whose business it is to reflect and promote the special and particular interests of certain classes and institutions. There are trade journals dealing with the interests of almost every conceivable line; financial papers dealing with banking, insurance, loan, trust and mortgage corporations; papers presenting the welfare of the vast and all-important industry of agriculture and stock raising; labor publications championing the cause and recording the activities of organized labor; purely political newspapers maintained to advance the cause of this or that party or organization or political principle; journals and magazines maintained by churches and philanthropic and social service organizations and church and non-church newspapers.

All these many publications are legitimate, law-abiding and play an important and proper part in the life of a country like Canada providing they are straightforward and honest. The paper in which this article appears is, however, first, last and always a home paper devoted to recording the news, activities and unfolding the interests of the people in the local community in which it circulates. It does not seek to serve any particular group, but the whole people of its own community and thereby help to advance the welfare of all. It does not profess to attempt to right the wrongs of the world nor to solve the gigantic problems of the present day, except in so far as the encouragement of sound, commonsense action by the ordinary everyday citizen helps in these directions. It is for this reason that so many of the articles appearing in this column are addressed to the individual occupying a small and perhaps inconspicuous place in the world. But nevertheless, the really great and the really great factors in building for national stability and progress—in fact, the basic, the greatest factor of all.

In common with all countries today, Canada is suffering, although not to the same extent as most lands, from a business depression resulting in lightness, a slackening in industry, high freight rates and high prices generally for commodities and a serious lack of employment for thousands willing and anxious to work. Governments, great corporations, capitalists of finance and industry, all have a tremendous responsibility during such a time as the present. Everybody recognizes this and the average citizen probably expects too much of them and demands that the impossible be done in an effort to right matters. But what is not so well recognized and appreciated is that each individual citizen can in a small way do much to improve conditions, and if all individuals, or a large majority of them, discharged their small duties the effect in the aggregate would be greater than anything Governments or corporations can do, and would make action possible by them which they are now powerless to take.

Take, for example, one present adverse condition—tight money. Hundreds of millions are required for national purposes and scores of millions more for financing the purchase and marketing of this year's crops, not to speak of the enormous sums necessary to keep the wheels of industry revolving in the present depressed state of business in order to prevent an actual shutdown in many directions. Can the average man do anything to relieve the money market? Of course he can, if he only will, but fear, selfishness and ignorance so frequently prevents him from doing so.

It is well, therefore, that every man should appreciate certain simple truths which are real economic facts. The business of the world is carried on on credit. In order that credit may be established and provided it is necessary that there be something of substantial back of it. For this reason Governments and all banks and financial institutions maintain reserves in gold or liquid securities. It is a well known fact that a dollar deposited in a bank serves as a source of credit for many times that amount. It is based on reputable authority that a dollar deposited in a bank provided adequate security from five to ten dollars of credit for the carrying on of business. Yet there are many people who through fear, selfishness or ignorance, hoarding money in various amounts in the home from year's end to year's end. They not only run the risk of loss through theft or fire, and lose the interest which their money on deposit would earn for them, but through the habit of hoarding they are depriving the community of the incalculable benefits of the credit which their money placed in a recognized bank would provide for the benefit of all themselves included, because in our complex twentieth century civilization no man can live to himself alone and general welfare conditions affect him as well as all others.

A writer in an Ohio farm journal estimates that at least $500,000,000 in this state alone is hoarded away in homes which, if placed on deposit in banks, would serve as a source of credit for from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 and go a long way towards relieving the present critical situation. "This writer points out that, aside from the protection afforded against loss by theft or fire, the biggest reason why all such money should find its way into banks as promptly as possible is that the banks are the credit base of the state and the source of the credit which they manufacture is lost when such is hoarded back, which the country needs at the present time. Most men hoard their money, but put it to work for yourself, your community and your country by placing it on deposit."

Highly few people will steal or burn as they can hoard.

Revelations at Moscow following the arrest of members of the Russian famine relief committee, are said to prove the committee was plotting to overthrow the Soviet Government under the cloak of carrying on relief work, says a despatch to the London Daily Herald from the Russian capital. An extraordinary commission is said to have discovered letters showing the conspiracy was wide spread. One of these is said to have outlined a scheme for reorganizing Russia under a supreme ruler with a federal duma regional, and parish dumas, and local governors.

Well Known Farmer Declares He Only Had Bare Fighting Chance

"When I began taking Tanlac it looked like I only had a bare fighting chance for life, but it put me on my feet feeling as fine as any man could want to feel," said William Padfield, well-known farmer living at Kipling, Sask.

"I was so emaciated that I only weighed 120 pounds when I started taking Tanlac, and was so weak I was almost in a state of collapse. I could not get any good out of the little I ate, as my stomach was in such an awful condition that even the lightest food soured and caused me misery.

"It was lucky for me that I took the advice of a friend who told me about Tanlac. It could not have done better if it had been made especially for my case, as it took hold of me right from the start and fixed me up so I could eat anything."

"Never in my life have I seen anything to equal the way I have gained in weight. I now weigh 185 pounds, have my strength back, and I can honestly say that I never felt better in my life or had more energy. Tanlac certainly does the work."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

News To Many

United States Has No Organization For Harvest Help.

More than 30,000 farm hands came to the west from Toronto and the east to Manitoba and Saskatchewan to work a month at $4 a day. They were clean-cut, intelligent young men, full of pep and ambition, and many of them will remain in the west as permanent developers. They were recruited by Dominion agencies in the east and all arrangements, including transport, were organized and managed by the government. This movement of unskilled labor to meet the widespread, hungry demand of the harvest is in strong contrast to the hit or miss methods employed in the States—Minneapolis News.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. DR. CLARKE REFUSES TO ENLIST UNDER PROGRESSIVE BANNER

Dr. M. Clark, M. P. for Red Deer, has resolutely taken a stand against the Farmer's or Progressive Party. He addressed the following communication last week to Hon. T. A. Cregar, leader of the Progressives. A straightforward definition of his attitude on group government.

Makes Himself Plain

Dr. Clark's letter, which was posted to the Hon. Mr. Cregar, says:

"My Dear Cregar—
"After our recent conversations, it will not greatly surprise you to learn that you cannot count on me as a candidate in Alberta for the forthcoming Dominion election.

"Mr. Wood, whose organizing ability is great and admirable, seems to think he has found something new in the idea of group government. It is as old as the hills. True Liberals fought it in Britain and Canada alike, under restricted franchise, and as people rightly struggling to be free, the house of lords and the family compact, the Manufacturers' Association, and the junkers and militarists of Germany, are each and all examples of group government, and the progress of humanity has been proportional to its ability to free itself from the domination of these groups. Class consciousness is none the less class selfishness, and therefore doomed to die because it suddenly appears in Farmer and Labor parties.

Only One Method

"After all, there seems to be only one method of working out human affairs in the political sphere. The apostles of progress must unite upon common principles, sincerely held to resist reaction, which is ever present like dead weight to drag down the aspirations of the race for freedom, justice and democracy.

"These were the things for which sixty thousand Canadians died in the recent war, but they will not be attained by putting one form of class consciousness in power in place of another.

"I have been fighting 'class' for forty years. It would be quite impossible for me to turn my back on my past and the right in this election.

"With kindest personal regards and best wishes."

Spend a Winter at the Olds School of Agriculture

Term Opens on October 27th, 1921

The courses offered afford the best opportunity ever given farm boys and girls to obtain a practical education.

The school term occupies only the slack months on the farm. The courses are free. Boarding and rooming accommodation are arranged for by the school management, and rates will be very reasonable.

The farm in connection with the school maintains a good selection of livestock for judging purposes, and the demonstration of feeding summer provides the best and most recent material on crops and crop production.

The school is equipped for the teaching of the elementary agricultural sciences.

There has never been a greater demand for trained men in the agricultural field than there is today. The uncertain conditions and values of all farm products at present make it essential that the successful farmer be equipped with every bit of available knowledge underlying the principles of production and marketing.

Every profession trains its men carefully in its own subjects—what is more essential to the future farmer than an agricultural training. Give the boy and girl a chance; it will pay in satisfaction, in the improvement of farming methods, and in money.

Presently she reached the water, and her quick ear caught the sound of a muskrat slipping gently into the stream from the reeds on the opposite bank; she could see the widening wake where he ploughed his swift way across the pond. Then her own figure stood up before her, graceful and lithe as the willows on the bank. She surveyed it a minute, then flicked the bowler at her face in the water, and turned slowly homeward. She was not unhappy, but a dull sense of loss oppressed her; it came that the world was very rich and very beautiful, and that she was feeling neither on its richness nor its beauty. There was a stirring of music and poetry in her soul, but either music nor poetry found expression. What she felt was a consciousness that the things were just beyond the horizon of her experience, things undefined and undefinable which could not be grasped there, would deepen life and sweeten life and give a purpose to all her being. And as she walked up the path and the fragrance of the air filled her nostrils, something of that wilder life seemed borne in upon her and sent a fresh spring to her smile. And presently she discovered she was thinking about Jim Travers.

Her mother sat in the dining room, knitting by the light of the hanging lamp. Her face seemed very pale and lovely in the soft glow.

"Don't you think you have done enough?" said the girl, slipping into a sitting posture on the floor by her mother's knee. "You work, work, work, all the time. I suppose they'll have to let you work in heaven."

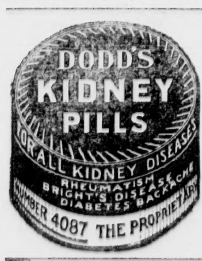

"We value our work more as we grow older," said the mother. "It helps to keep us from thinking."

"Here you must excuse me, but there was a tenderness in her voice. "Working again. I wish I could stop doing it for a while."

The mother pined her hands in silence. "Slip away to bed, Beulah," she said at length. "I will wait up for a while."

CHAPTER IV The Call of the Pasture West.

Notwithstanding Harri's late hours, the household rose early on the following morning. As yet of the week Jim was at work in the rubber fields, rubbing down, and harnessing his horses, while Alton and his father walked to the engine, where they built a fresh fire and made some minor repairs. Then at this early hour the sun shone brightly, its rays inclining in a sheet of ground-mist that enveloped the prairie, but there was a tang in the Manitoba morning air, even in midwinter, and the men walked briskly through the crisp sunlight. A little later Beulah came down to the corral with her milk-pail, and the cows, comfortably chewing where they stood on their warm spots of earth, rose slowly and with evident great reluctance at her approach. A spot of light blue sky showed a perpendicular column from the kitchen chimney; motherly hens fed the broods down to freedom; was greeted with chirping contentment from the woods; and calves voiced impatient demands for their milk.

W. N. E. 1386

Harri, from his fifty thousand others, rose from his brief hush of rest and quiet to the sounds and energies of another day.

Breakfast, like the meal of the night before, was eaten hurriedly, and at first without conversation, but at length Harri paused long enough to remark, "Riles is talkin' of goin' West."

"The news might be worse," said Beulah. "Riles, although a careerist farmer, had the reputation of being grasping and hard to a degree, even in a community where such qualities, in moderation, were by no means considered vices."

Harri paid no attention to his daughter's interruption. It was evident, however, that his mention of Riles had a purpose behind it, and presently he continued:

"Riles has been writin' to the Department of the Interior, and it seems they've granted a lot of land for homesteadin' away West, not far from the Rocky Mountains. Seems they've got a good climate there, and good soil too."

"I should think Mr. Riles would be content with what he has," said Mary Harris. "He has a fine farm here, and I'm sure both him and his wife have worked hard enough to take it easier now."

"Hard work never killed nobody," pursued the farmer. "Riles is good for many a year yet, and free land isn't what it once was. Those homesteads'll be worth twenty dollars an acre by the time they're proved up."

"I wish I was sure of it—I wouldn't think long," said Alton. "But they say it's all right for some, but not so good for farmin'."

"Who says that?" demanded his father, a ranchman. "They know which side their bread's buttered on. As long's they can come to the homestead, they tell me the Englebloms and Franklins did, and went out into that country when our Canadians settled in Manitoba have more cattle now than they can count—they measure 'em by acres. Riles says—"

Breakfast and Harri's speech came to an end suddenly, and the subject was dropped for the time. In a few minutes Jim had his team hitched to the tank wagon in the yard, the men jumped aboard, and the wagon rattled down the road to where the engine and ploughs sat in the stubble field.

"What notion's this father's got about Riles, do you suppose, mother?" asked Beulah, as the two women busied themselves with the morning work in the kitchen.

"He knows," said her mother wearily. "I hope he doesn't take it in his head to go out there too."

"What had? Oh, he wouldn't do that. He'd hardly get mixed with the building of this house, and you know for years he talked and looked forward to the building of the new house. His heart's quite wrapped up in the farm here. I wish he'd unwrap it a bit and let it get out of him."

"I'm not so sure. I'm beginning to think he's the money that's in the farm, and his father's heart is so on the money was to be made somewhere else his heart would soon shift."

"Mother!" exclaimed the girl, reproaching deviously the old head from her mother's side, and she could hardly stop her lips. It was nothing for Beulah to criticize her father; that was her daily custom, and she pressed it with the whole frankness of her nature. But her mother had always defended, sometimes mildly smiling, but never admitting, either weakness or injustice on the part of John Harris.

"Well, I just can't stand it much longer," said the mother, the remark which she had so long held in check, overrunning her. "He's a shaver and saved him an old woman, and what better are we for? We better things to not wear more things to wear and a blazer house to keep clean, and your father thinks we ought to be satisfied. But he isn't satisfied himself. He's saying harder than ever, and now he's got his notion about goin' West. Oh, you'll see it will come to that. He knows his life isn't complete, and he thinks more money will complete it. All the experience of twenty years hasn't taught him any better."

Beulah sat silent at this outburst, and when her mother paused and looked at her, and she saw the sudden wells of water gathering in the tender eyes, she could no longer restrain herself. With a cry she flung her arms about her mother's neck, and for a few moments the two forgot their habitual restraint and were but naked souls mingling together.

"It's a shame," exclaimed Beulah at length. "We're not living; we're just existing. When I get married, people that are really living—the life the Grants, over there, you don't know how miserable and mean I feel. And it's not that alone—it's the sense of loss, the sense that life is going by and I'm not making the best of it. You know we are missing the real thing, we are just living on the husks, and father is so blind he thinks the husks are the grain itself."

"Your father is hungry, too," said the mother. "I'm hungry, hungry, and he thinks that more land, more money, more success, will fill him. And in the meantime he's missing the things that would satisfy—the love that was ours, the little days of old, what I'm doing to him, and an unforgotten creature I am! You must forget, Beulah, you must forget those words—words of shame they are."

"The shame is his," declared the girl, defiantly, "and I won't stand this nonsense about homesteadin' much longer—I just won't stand it. If he says anything more about it I'll—I'll do it, that's what I'll do. And I'll make a few remarks for him about Riles that won't keep him from sleepin'. The old badger's at the bottom of all this."

"You mustn't quarrel with your father, dearie, you mustn't quarrel with him, but I'm going to say some things that must satisfy him. He's coming to a show-down, and he must go—well, he must, but you and I will stay with the old farm, won't we, mother?"

But the mother's thought may have been quelling the storm in the turbulent heart of her daughter. Beulah's nature was not one to rebel, used to passive submission, not yet positive resistance. She was the child of love, but with that loyalty she combined a furious intolerance of things as they stood before her. She had not yet reached the philosophical age, but she was old enough to value life, and to know that what she called the real things were coming here. At night, as she looked up at the myriad stars spanning the heavens, the girl's heart was filled with the unutterable yearning of a sense of restoration, of limitation, of loss—sense that somewhere lay a purpose and a plan, and that only by becoming part of that plan could life be lived to the fullest.

Her mother was of a different nature, not less brave, but more resigned, content to fill, without question, the niche to which fate assigned her, accepting conditions as a matter of course. Yet at times she had inklings of those deeper questions which arose in persistent interrogations before her child, and she guessed that if Beulah once became convinced that the way the Plan, her own loyalty could dissuade her from following it. So she strove to control the sudden outbreak in her own heart, lest the fire lighted in Beulah's should break forth in conflagration.

"There, there now," she said, gently stroking her daughter's hair. "Let's forget this, and remember how much we have to be thankful for. We have our health, and our home, and the bright sunshine, and—I declare," she interrupted, catching a glimpse of something through the window, if the cows haven't broken from the lower pasture and are all through the garden. You'll have to take care and get them back, somehow, or bring them in to the corral."

The Seven Seas

Separate Continent Surrounds Each According to Hindu Mythology. The "Seven Seas" exist in Hindu mythology, according to the Puranas the earth is circular and flat, like the flower of a water lily. Its circumference is 4 billion miles. In the center is Mount Sumeru. On this mountain are three peaks formed of gold, pearls and precious stones, where the deities reside. At its base are three mountains, on each of which grows a tree 8,800 miles high. The country furthest from these mountains is bounded by the salt sea. Beyond this sea there are six others—of sugar cane juice, of storied flowers, of clarified butter, of curds of milk and nectar. Each sea is surrounded by a separate continent.

Five Irish Delegates Have Been Appointed To British Conference

Dublin. The Daily Freeman approved its "editorial" reply to Mr. Lloyd George's latest proposals and ratified the appointment of five delegates to a "possible conference" with representatives of Great Britain.

The appointments of plenipotentiaries approved were those of the following: Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Féin and "foreign minister," chairman; Michael Collins, "finance minister"; Robert C. Barton, who has been one of the leading figures in the preliminary negotiations; Eamon J. Duggan, Sinn Féin member of parliament; and a leading figure in the arrangement of the Irish truce; George Gavan Duffy, who has acted as representative of the Sinn Féin abroad.

Nothing has leaked out as to whether the reply is acceptance or nonacceptance of the invitation to a conference, but the fact that five Irish plenipotentiaries have been appointed is taken as indicating confidence in continuance of the negotiations. Mr. Lloyd George is expected to remain in Scotland at least another three weeks.

Grain Exchange Appoints New Head

Retiring President Says Producers Should Understand Marketing Methods.

Winnipeg.—C. H. Leaman was formally elected president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, succeeding Norman L. Leach, retired, at the annual meeting. J. B. Craig and Dr. Robert Magill, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, who were elected by acclamation along with Mr. Leaman at the nonpartisan meeting were also installed in office.

A resume of the past year's work in the grain trade, with suggestions for the general improvement of the trade was the feature of the retiring president's address, which stated: "There is today a wider and keener interest in grain marketing methods and systems; there are many criticisms of those methods. They should be more clearly understood by the producer, the business and general community at large and I submit to you the suggestion of co-operation with and education of your trade, your customers and the general public toward that end."

Trial Shipment Proves Failure

Alberta Government Lost On Shipment of Beef Cattle.

Edmonton, Alta.—The trial shipment of fat beef cattle that was sent to Scotland in June by the provincial department of agriculture, resulted in a net loss to the government. They show an average cost per head of $303, with an average return of $188.88. There were thirty-six head of export steers in the shipment. The animals were shipped to Glasgow and were there sold at the public market for immediate slaughter.

When the steers left Edmonton they stood at a cost to the government of $168.17 per animal, and the transportation charges, Edmonton to Glasgow, were $100.12 per animal. Added to this cost were the expenses of the attendant, bank charges and other overhead expenses, bringing the total cost per head to $302.97. Records kept en route show that there was practically no shrinkage in any of the animals. The sales in the Glasgow markets showed that the smaller handweighed steers of good type and breeding, ranging from 1,200 to 1,350 pounds, were most in demand, the heavier fat steers not meeting with ready sale for the summer trade.

British Dirigible May Replace ZR-2

U.S. Government Wants to Obtain Former German Zeppelin.

London.—Reports that the United States and British Governments may arrange for the transfer of one of Great Britain's remaining airships to United States ownership to replace the wrecked ZR-2, have received some credence in United States official circles here where it is stated the United States Government, some time prior to contracting for the ZR-2 considered the desirability of obtaining one of the former German Zeppelins for experimental and instructional purposes.

When these German air fighters were turned over to the allies, Italy, France and Britain received one each and America none. Great Britain's Zeppelin, the L-71 is the largest rigid airship in existence, none of the ZR-2 is gone. Her cubic capacity is 2,420,000 feet or 380,000 feet less than the ZR-2. The length of the L-71 is 743 feet as against 665 feet for the ZR-2.

Italy Has Good Harvest

Crop Expected to Reach Pre-War Productiveness.

Rome.—Italy's harvest this year will reach its pre-war productiveness, according to the government crop forecasts. The total harvest anticipated will reach 31,200,000 quintals of about 220 pounds each, comprising all kinds of grain.

The average pre-war crop was calculated at 48,000,000 quintals. During the war, production decreased to 38,000,000 quintals.

The present year's crop is also distinguished by the fact that it lacks but 6,000,000 in equalling the record grain crop of Italy, which was in 1913, when it reached nearly 58,000,000 quintals.

Chinese Canadian Trade Increases

Net Increase of 840 Per Cent. in Five Years.

Hamilton, Ont.—China and Canada have much in common, and their trade relationship is growing substantially every year, declared W. V. Kwan, chairman of the Chinese Railway Commission to members of the Klu Klux Klan's Club. He emphasized that in 1918, the last year in which statistics were available, China had imported and exported goods from and to Canada valued at more than $17,000,000, which when compared with 1913 figures showed a net increase of 840 per cent.

During August, 1921, imports entered for home consumption had a total value of $6,117,401, as compared with $12,418,014, a reduction of $9,100,613. For the five months ending August 31, the total merchandise entered for consumption was valued at $39,000,763, as compared with $97,890,603 in 1920. In August, 1920, domestic merchandise export had a total value of $11,278,061, as compared with $61,822,993 for August, 1921.

Edmonton.—Representing the oilfield industry in the entire western hemisphere when the opening of the third annual Alberta convention at the Banff Hotel of Mining and Metallurgy was called to order by the chairman, O. E. S. Whiteley, of Edmonton, Mayor G. M. Duggan briefly addressed the visiting delegates, welcoming them to Edmonton on behalf of the city.

The Provincial Government was represented by Premier Greenfield, who spoke on the research work of the government in the matter of the oilfield industry.

"The government is endeavoring to develop more markets for Alberta oil," declared Premier Greenfield, "but we have met with one difficulty and that is the grading of coal."

The Premier deplored the lack of uniformity in the grading of coal, and stated that it had proved a hindrance in the marketing of the product. "We are advertising, making demonstrations and continuing the research work," he said, "and I would like to suggest co-operation with the government as well as advice you that the uniform system of grading coal is a necessity."

Premier Greenfield gave an account of his trip into the north country, and said he was deeply impressed and encouraged by his observations of conditions. "The government has held in the McMuray township where the mining of salt is being investigated by the research branch, was also mentioned by the premier. "The government is thoroughly aware of the importance of the mineral fuel strikes in the province," he said.

The approach of the winter season and its effect on the unemployment situation in the province was mentioned upon by Mr. Greenfield. "I am opposed to soup-kitchens and that form of relief," he said, "and would like to ask you to employ during the winter months, if possible, as much extra help as you can."

August Showed Decline In Trade

Experts of Agricultural Products Decrease Ten Million Dollars.

Ottawa.—A sharp decline in Canadian trade for the month of August, 1921, as compared with August, 1920, was indicated in the summary of Canadian trade issued by the department of customs. Total Canadian trade for August, 1921, amounted to $127,510,590, as compared with $238,068,491, for August, 1920. For the five months of the first year closing with the end of August, total trade was $621,806,126, as compared with $1,043,353,719, a reduction of $421,547,593.

During August, 1921, imports entered for home consumption had a total value of $6,117,401, as compared with $12,418,014, a reduction of $9,100,613. For the five months ending August 31, the total merchandise entered for consumption was valued at $39,000,763, as compared with $97,890,603 in 1920. In August, 1920, domestic merchandise export had a total value of $11,278,061, as compared with $61,822,993 for August, 1921.

OLDS SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

The Olds School of Agriculture is making preparations for the opening of its 8th school year. During the seven years the school has operated there has been an average annual attendance of 141 students, the average number of men and women in attendance being 47 and 94 respectively. The smallest attendance was in 1913-14 the opening year, when 101 students were enrolled and the largest in 1920-21 with an attendance of 163 men and women. The attendance record during the school's existence is ample proof of the school's popularity in Central Alberta. The fact that the attendance has increased from year to year in the face of the serious farm conditions which have existed during the past few years is the best kind of evidence to show that the people on the land appreciate the value of the courses offered by the O. S. A. and are sending their sons and daughters to take advantage of this training in ever increasing numbers.

At the present time when conditions and prices are bad some people are inclined to neglect giving their children anything more than a common education. It is in times like these that it pays and pays well to invest in more advanced training. The O. S. A. is run by the government for the purpose of providing the advanced training in the applied sciences and to instruct the students in the fundamental principles of farming and housekeeping and to make them more pleasant and profitable occupations. In order to make it possible for the all to take advantage of the courses they are made free. That is, there are no tuition fees, the only expenses incurred while taking the courses are those covering room, board, laundry and possibly $10.00 for books. It is pleasing to be able to announce that board and room will be available this year at $7.50 a week. This will be for the students who are boarding with private families in the town. In the co-operative dormitory which is run in the direction of the Domestic Science Instructors we are able to say that it will not cost the women students more than $20 a month each. This means that the students in the dormitory will be able to spend the five months at the school for a total cost that will not exceed $150. In the case of the students who have their accommodation with private families it will cost $200 for the five months period.

The prospects are that we will have a very good attendance at the O. S. A. again this year as we already have a good number of applications on file and large numbers of enquiries are coming in each day. The courses offered this year are very similar to those of 1920 and 21. A few needed changes in certain branches have been made which we feel will very materially add to the value of the work from the standpoint of the farm and home. In planning the courses the first consideration is to shape them so that they will be of value to the man and woman on the land and in the home. The courses are for five months each year for two years. They run during the Fall and Winter months when the work on the farm is not too heavy. For the students who wish to take degree work there is an arrangement between schools of agriculture and university which makes it possible for the graduate from the school to enter the university and by taking three years obtain a degree in agriculture or domestic science. The student who has high school matriculation standing when entering the O. S. A. can take the two years work in one year.

The O. S. A. opens on October 27th, 1921, and closes on March 31, 1922. Boys must be 15 years and girls 16 years old before entering. The only entrance requirement is that the student must be able to read and write the English language intelligently.

A calendar describing the course and the work of the term will be sent to anyone interested upon request to the Principal.

THE FLOWER-LIKE TONGUE

At the local club the conversation had got on the topic of the English language, its uses and abuses. "Have you ever noticed," said one man, "how fond people are of flower phrases when speaking of a woman? Her cheeks are 'lily-white,' her eyes are 'dewy violets,' and—"

"You've forgotten one," broke in the man with the sour face, who had hitherto been silent.

"Which one?"

"Her tongue. It's a 'scarlet runner.'"

EXACTLY

As the man and the maid strolled through the picture gallery, the woman stopped before one of the exhibits.

"Oh, how sweet!" she breathed.

"I wonder what it means?"

questioned the young fellow, as he eyed the pictured pair who clung together in an attitude of love and longing.

"Oh, Charlie, don't you see?" the girl chided tenderly. "He has just asked her to marry him and she has consented. It's lovely! What does the artist call the picture?"

The young man leaned nearer and eyed a label on the frame. "I see!" he cried. "It's printed on this card here—'Sold!'"

Why Are So Many People Wearing Glasses?

Because people are rapidly learning the value of comfortable vision, and learning, too, that keen vision is not a proof of perfect eyes.

The list of disorders caused by eye-strain is a long one, including headaches, dizziness, nausea, indigestion and many others.

If you are a sufferer, and cannot locate the cause of your trouble, permit us to examine your eyes. Our examination will reveal any hidden defect of the ocular system.

Creeps Into The System Just Like a Serpent

Like a thief in the night, it steals through the system—that low Catarrhic acid. Don't trifle with such a scourge. Time and experience have proved that Catarrhine is a wonderful remedy for all Catarrhic and bronchial troubles. You don't take any drugs, you just initiate the sweet soothing vapor of Catarrhine which is taken with balsamic essences that heal, relieve and ease the sufferer. To strengthen the throat, to soothe the lungs, to stop nasty discharges, to drive out Catarrh, colds and weakness in the throat, use Catarrhine. Two months treatment one dollar, smaller size 50c, all dealers in the Catarrhine Co., Montreal.

MOTHERS!

WATCH YOUR TEETHING BABIES

THOUSANDS OF THEM DIE EVERY SUMMER

When the baby starts to cut its teeth, then is the time the poor mother is under the stress of great anxiety. The child's bowels become loose, and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and muscular bowel complaints manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth, and in many cases the child wastes in a shadow, and very often the termination is fatal.

On the first intimation of any looseness of the bowels, give a few doses of

and then, perhaps, save your baby's life.

For the past 70 years "Dr. Fowler's" has been used by mothers for teething babies, and no drug expert is so well acquainted with a new and untried remedy which might be dangerous to your darling's health.

Three Hundred Great Years

Undreamed of Advancement Since British Empire Was Founded.

A period of three hundred years—a span which is short enough in the history of any age in which we are not directly concerned—is all that separates us from the beginning of the colonial policy upon which the mighty British Empire was founded, but these three centuries have seen new worlds discovered, new nations arise and an advancement in civilization beyond the dreams of those who lived at their beginning. The impressive ceremonies at Annapolis Royal surpass far greater interest and significance than would attach to a merely local observance, for they celebrated events which have had no small part in moulding the history of this continent, and their effects have been felt over an even greater part of the surface of the globe.—The St. John Telegraph.

WIND ON THE STOMACH QUICKLY RELIEVED

It is a good thing to know just what to do when gas is belching starts. One sufferer related the following experience: "A few months ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It brought on indigestion, heartburn, nausea and cramps. I belched gas continually. A neighbor urged me to use 'Nervine.' I took it in hot sweetened water, and got quick relief. It will never again be without this valuable remedy. Nervine is a household necessity, large 35c bottle sold everywhere."

To Produce Dyes

A joint stock company will be formed in Winnipeg in the near future with a capitalization of $200,000 and a plant valued at more than $250,000 will be erected in St. Boniface, for the production of dyes, according to T. H. Brooks, inventor of a new method of extracting aniline dyes from coal tar.

Really Reliable Asthma Remedy. All sufferers from chronic Asthma should try Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, no matter how many others have failed to give relief. It is a common thing for Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Remedy to succeed where others fail, as is testified by many thousands who have found this out for themselves. Why continue to endure days and nights of unspeakable agony when a remedy of such high standing has not yet been tried?

Started Forest Fire

Robert Louis Stevenson Would Have Been Lynched If Caught.

In connection with American forest fires it may be recalled that one of England's most distinguished novelists once was guilty of having fired a forest in California, and had been identified with the accident—which the inhabitants of the locality would have construed instantly as a crime—he would have suffered the capital penalty under lynch law. Robert Louis Stevenson, in his "old Pacific Capital," admits the folly that induced him to satisfy his curiosity as to the inflammable nature of the moss that ornaments the pine trees in the woods above Monterey by applying a match to the trunk of the tree, instead of detaching a portion of the moss and examining in safety.

As it was, the tree went off like a rocket. "In three seconds it was a roaring pillar of fire. Men were at work near by, conducting another break, and had my eye observed Stevenson's experiment his neck would not have been 'worth a pinch of snuff.' At night he was able to discern his 'own particular fire' quite distinct from the other, and burning 'with even greater vigor.'"

A POPULAR TONIC

One That Enriches the Blood and Strengthens the Nerves.

Proper food, fresh air and a good tonic will keep most people in good health. Hurried meals, indoor confinement in badly ventilated rooms and lack of exercise causes anaemia, in this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a popular tonic. They contain no harmful forcing drugs, and always have a beneficial effect through enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves.

For example, a young girl, who became thin and pale, for pale, tired women and for old people who are weak, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic. Their benefit in anaemic conditions is shown by the case of Miss Lucy A. Stevens, Hillsborough, N.S., who says: "Last spring I was in very poor health, and completely run down. I had severe headaches, the least exertion would cause my heart to palpitate violently, my appetite was poor, and at times I had fainting spells."

A Becoming Frock For The Dark-Eyed Girl

By Marie Belmont.

This lovely frock is made of a fine quality of burnt orange voile. The bodice is designed with a wide spread collar which is prettily draped about the shoulders. This is edged with cream lace. The small puffed sleeves are trimmed in like manner. The skirt shows a continuation of the flared effect, for it is designed with an irregular overskirt. This is caught up at the side with a spray of black-eyed susans. The underskirt is also adorned with the cream lace. A belt of dark brown velvet ribbon defines the waistline and clusters at one side of the frock is another spray of the black-eyed flowers.

The Milk Maid

A young man went on one occasion to call at a country farm house to make inquiries after his sweetheart, who had charge of the dairy. Her master opened the door, and her lover asked him timidly: "How is the milkmaid?"

But the farmer angrily replied, as he slammed the door on the stranger's face: "Our milk isn't made; it's got from the cow."

Mr. L. C. Snyder Passed Away on Monday

The death of Mr. Levi C. Snyder, one of Didsbury's earliest settlers, took place on Monday morning at his home after a lingering sickness of some months duration.

Deceased was born near Kitchener, Ont., in 1847, and was 74 years of age at his death. He was married to Miss Magdalena Hirst in 1875 and of the union nine children were born, four of whom are deceased. The widowed mother and five sons live to mourn the loss of a loving husband and kind father.

Mr. Snyder as before stated, was a pioneer of this district coming here in 1901 from Breslau, Ont. Until a few years ago he conducted extensive farming operations in the southeast part of the district but he had to give that up and he moved into town. He was of a quiet disposition but that did not deter him from taking an active interest in town affairs in the earlier days when times were strenuous and Didsbury was in the making. He was elected a member of the school board some years ago and also a member of the old Board of Trade. The funeral took place on Wednesday from his home in Didsbury, services being held in the Mennonite Church, interment taking place on the Didsbury cemetery. A very large number of the residents of the district attended the funeral.

BORN:—On Sunday, Sept. 18th, 1921, to Mr. and Mrs. Noah Swalm, a daughter, Frances Lucille.

BORN:—At the Didsbury General Hospital on Sunday,

Sept. 18th, 1921, to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hardy, a son.

Loses Championship

they had seen the boys play much better games many times before.

The score was 12-7 in favor of the Hat. The Dawson brothers, Clemens and Freeman were responsible for the runs credited to Didsbury. Didsbury had 14 hits, their opponents 13. Six errors for the locals was scored against four for the Hatters.
